PUBLISHED IN PAMPHLET FORM

Will be County's Resources and Needs
--Important Resolutions.

The time was too short for an oral response from every county chairman at the Fourth State Development convention in Louisville, at the roll call of counties, last Thursday, and the myriad papers submitted, along with the other papers and the speeches of the convention, will be published in pamphlet form, and some of them, in condensed form, in the big trade journals of the country. Dr. A. A. Simons, of this city, chairman of the delegates from Breckenridge county, over half of whom attended the convention, submitted a paper setting forth the county's agricultural products, her resources in the way of fine clays and shales, timber, asphalt, natural gas, and oil prospects, etc., and important and interesting information regarding the industries needed by the county, what it needs to make it a richer and more productive county, and what inducements are offered to capitalists and business men of the county will eventually result in much benefit to the counties of the State.

Ninety-eight counties were represented at the convention and there were about 500 delegates present. The convention lasted three days, ending Thursday night with a big banquet at the Galt House. It was the most successful meeting of the kind ever held in the State and it is believed that it will be productive of much benefit to the State at large. The next convention will be held at Winchester.

Resolutions adopted by the convention recommended:

First--Revision of the State revenue and taxation laws.
Second--Establishment of a State Bureau of Immigration and Information.
Third--Organization of county immigration societies.
Fourth--Better equipment for the State Agricultural and Mechanical College.
Fifth--Extension of the school system and establishment of State normal schools.
Sixth--Continuation of the State Geological Survey.
Seventh--Creation of the office of State Forester.
Eighth--Permanency of the State Fair and selection of a permanent location.
Ninth--Enlargement of the scope of the State Board of Agriculture.

PROCEEDINGS OF CIRCUIT COURT.

Herdinburg, Ky., Oct. 17. (Special.)--In the action of Mary E. Payne vs. Thos. R. Carman, the defendant filed his answer of record. The plaintiff was given thirty days within which to file her reply, the pleadings to be completed within fifty days, and the case was continued.

The commonwealth recovered one hundred and fifty dollars and costs in the case of the Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. the Standard Oil Co. The judgment was obtained because of the fact that the Standard Oil Co. peddled oil without first taking out a license, as required by the revenue law.

James L. Robertson was granted a divorce from Malcolm Robertson, and was restored to her maiden name.

On motion of the plaintiff the case of Wm. D. Whitworth vs. Sarah M. Whitworth was dismissed.

The case of Albert Orum vs. S. W. Pate, having been settled by the parties, was dismissed.

On motion of the plaintiff the case of Letitia Shelman vs. Andrew McFee, etc., was continued, and alias process was awarded.

In the action of A. B. Skilman, et al., vs. Elizabeth May, et al., a judgment was entered constraining the will of Fred Walters, deceased.

On motion of the plaintiff the action of Charles E. Murphy vs. Flora Le Osborne, etc., was continued until the next term of court.

The case of Fannie B. Mercer vs. John B. Ganaway was dismissed with leave to replead on motion of either party.

A rule was issued against the plaintiff's requiring time to be ready for trial at the next February term of court, in the case of John Verma & Co. vs. Mary F. Meador.

The case of U. L. Hawkins vs. Pete Sheeran Bros. & Co., was dismissed.

MARY, MOTHER OF WASHINGTON. Her statue monument erected by patriotic citizens.

He Ought to Have Cared.

John Allen Smith was knocked in the head at Fordville last Thursday by Wilson Dooly in rather an unusual way. Dooly came up to where Smith was standing and asked Smith if he wanted to fight. Smith replied that he didn't care, whereupon Dooly struck him with what is termed as a sledgehammer, rendering him unconscious. At last report he was still in a pretty bad condition.--Hartford Republican.

Judge Graham Candidate.

Herdinburg, Ky., Oct. 17. (Special.)--Judge John Graham, of Leitchfield, is here attending court and serving as special judge in the case of B. F. Beard & Co. vs. Arthur Goodman, now on trial. The judge is also a prospective candidate for the Democratic nomination for congress, and is quietly looking after his fences.

Sunday School Conventions.

District Sunday school conventions will be held at Gannettville, Ekron and Brandenburg on October 20, 21 and 22 respectively. E. A. Fox, state secretary of the Sunday school association, who will be at the conventions, will be at Gaston also on the night of October 22 and give his stereoscopic lecture, which every one should hear. The admission will be ten cents.

Mrs. David Wilson and Mrs. Truman Adams spent Sunday at Addition.

The case of Thos. Sweeney's Adm'r. vs. James M. Mason was transferred to the ordinary docket and continued until the next term of court.

On motion of the defendant, the case of H. J. Ballman vs. Henry Tucker, was continued at the defendant's cost.

The following well-known gentlemen compose the petit jury, at this session: Calvin Hendrick, S. E. Wagoner, Dock Oliver, Sam Rice, Henry Greenwell, Taylor Bell, Tom Gannaway, Rod Butler, Ed. Goodman, John Harrington, P. P. Roberts, Richard Cook, James Severs, H. H. Sims, Jesse Macy, R. S. Carter, James Deane, John F. Meador, F. A. Pate, John Hendrick, James T. Beard, John Alexander, John Ball and W. R. Bowman.

The case of the Harding Miller Mfg. Co. vs. W. A. Clark was dismissed.

The grand jury were finally discharged Saturday after having returned forty-one indictments.

The case of R. B. Tuttle vs. R. M. Jolly, etc., was continued at plaintiff's cost, and he was ruled to be ready for trial at the next term.

The grand jury failed to find indictments against the negro porter and negro woman who were under bond in the county court charged with the murder of Alfred Ray, on a train near Stephensport. They returned an indictment for assault and battery against all four of the men who were with Ray.

In the difficulty which occurred at Herdon, about two weeks ago, between Robert Day and Ralph Lucas, the grand jury returned indictments against Day and refused to indict Lucas.

The suit instituted by Winnie Hall against Flora Macy, for damages for defamation of character, will be tried today.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

John Richardson's sale of Angora goats, at Big Spring, was a failure. There was only one lot offered and the lot bid was $2 per head. Mr. Richardson rejected the bid. He said they were worth $10 a head to him for grafting.

"His place shows their wonderful work. Fields that were covered with briars and masticas bushes are now clean and under a high state of cultivation. His goats did the work. They are great savers as well as great fertilizers of the soil."

Frank Dean shipped from Glendene Saturday fifty head of steers averaging 1,100 pounds.

John Lydian, of Webster, sold to Wm. Basket, of Brandenburg, last Saturday three fine harness horses at $175, $225, and $250.

J. C. Crutcher, Jesse Herndon, John McFarvock, Ben Webster, Geo. Claycomb, and Bewley, left Tuesday for Texas and Oklahoma, on a prospecting tour.

Phylo Shmette and family leave Saturday for Los Angeles, Cal., their future home. Mr. Shmette is one of our best citizens, and leaves behind many friends who wish him a long and successful life in his new home.

Abie Richardson's new store house at Garfield is early completed and he hopes to be installed in it in time for the Christmas trade. This is one of the largest business houses in the county and is a credit to Mr. Richardson's enterprise.

They have a new way of working the roads in some sections of the county. For instance, the road from Garfield to Custer in many places is thrown up on the sides and left to rot in the middle. This sort of roadwork is all right for dry weather, but it is no good for the rainy season. The money and time spent for this kind of work had just as well be thrown in the ditch.

Organizing Brick Plant Company.

It is understood that D. Stuart Miller, the well-known coal operator of Owensboro, is attempting to organize a company to buy and operate the Patton brick yard if a satisfactory deal can be made with the present owners. Mr. Miller was here last Friday on business connected with the project.

New Exchange at Gaston.

Bewleyville, Ky., Oct. 17. (Special.)--A new exchange will soon be located at Gaston. Twenty-five lines will go into the new switch-board.

BELIEVED DEAD MANY YEARS

Taylor Goff Returns a Wealthy Man
--Was Partner of Stratton.

Believed to be dead for twenty years, Taylor Goff, who left Cloverport in 1867 at the age of twenty-five, returned here last Thursday from Grand Junction, Colo., to visit his brother, Chas. Goff, of Taft, his nephew, Eugene Goff, of this city, and other relatives. When he went to Colorado he had little money. For twenty-five years or more he has engaged successfully in the mining and real estate business in that and other western states and his wealth now runs easily into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. He owns several gold and silver mines and other valuable property at Grand Junction and other points, but will not return there, on account of failing health, going instead to Los Angeles, Cal., to engage in the real estate business.

Mr. Goff prospected for years with the late William Stratton, founder and owner of Independence mine, Colorado, the richest gold mine in the world, and was his partner in an iron mine. When Stratton died last year he was worth $10,000,000.

In 1868, Mr. Goff returned to Cloverport for a short visit and seven years later for a brief period. For twenty years after this return to Colorado, his relatives here did not receive any word from him and thought that he was dead. In recent years only did they hear from him. During part of this time he was in Australia, China and other countries in the far east.

He started on his two visits here that accidently prevented. One time by an explosion of dynamite, his leg was broken and his eyes so badly burned that he could not see for eleven months, and not then until an operation was performed. At another time, the wooden steps of a car was demolished in an accident and his face was penetrated and disfigured by many long splinters.

Mr. Goff married a daughter of ex-Governor Sherwood, of Oregon. He has no children and his wife is not living, and he has offered a home in California to every one of his relatives in this state, among whom are Mrs. W. D. Waters, a niece, and Wm. Goff, a nephew, both residing at Owensboro. Some of them will accept the offer.

ADDITIONAL HARDINSBURG.

Circuit court will probably adjourn Friday.

Miss Amanda Dean, of Glendene, is now the guest of Mrs. Blanche Read.

John Allen Dean, of Owensboro, V. G. Bahbage, of Cloverport, and J. D. Hardin, of Brandenburg, are attending court this week.

Surveyors Reach Stephensport.

The government surveying party now making a complete survey of the Ohio river between Louisville and the mouth of the stream, are expected to reach Stephensport today, as they were just above there yesterday. The party consists of about forty men and they have their own boat. It is thought the crew will finish its work by November 1. The weather is fine for the surveying party, as it is being made. This crew will continue its work until bad weather sets in.

CONVENTION OF TOBACCO GROWERS WILL MEET AT OWENSBORO TODAY.

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 15. (The annual meeting of the National Tobacco Growers' Association will be called to order in Owensboro at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning and will be in session three days. It will probably be one of the greatest meetings of tobacco growers ever held in the United States, and delegates will be in attendance from nearly every tobacco-growing state in the union. Some of the most celebrated workers for the betterment of the tobacco growers will be present and will deliver addresses.

The sessions will be held in the Grand Theatre, the only building in the city large enough to accommodate comfortably the crowd that is expected. At least 500 delegates will be present, according to the statement of the local tobacco growers who have charge of the arrangements for the meeting. In addition to the accredited delegates there will be a large number of tobacco growers from Western Kentucky, Southern Indiana and Tennessee, who will come to hear the proceedings.

First Day's Session.

Wednesday will be the first day of active work. The morning session will be given to the seating of the delegates, the address of welcome and the response of President Davenport of the association. The afternoon session will be given to the announcement of committees, reading of the report of the secretary and the address of President Everett, of the American Society of Equity, followed by discussion. The evening session will be given over to the addresses and discussions of the report of the Committee on Order of Business. It is anticipated that three sessions will be held daily.

List of Speakers.

Addressees will be made by John Wesley Gaines, the "Tobacco Congressman" of Tennessee; H. B. Sherman, national organizer of the American Society of Equity; John S. Cunningham, of North Carolina; S. C. Adams, president of the Interstate Tobacco Growers' Association; Charles Fort, president of the Dark Tobacco Growers' Association; Felix G. Ewing, of Tennessee; Congressman A. O. Stanley, of Kentucky, and others. Discussions will follow the addresses, in which the delegates and all interested persons will be invited to take part.

Subjects of Addresses.

The subjects of addresses and topics for discussion will include: "Quantity and Condition of 1905 Crop of Tobacco," "Methods of Growing, Storing and Pricing," "Methods of Marketing," "Scales of Prices to be Adopted for 1905 Tobacco," "Committee of Organization," "Tobacco Clearing-houses in Principal Markets," "Financing 1905 Crop," "Provision for funds to Maintain the Organization and Transact Business." Committees to prepare reports on the above topics will be selected the first day of the convention. Of course the most important work for the convention will be the fixing of the scale of prices for the coming year.

West Virginia Oil Men Here.

Meers W. G. Long and H. G. Gilead, oil men of New Martinsville, W. Va., spent several days in this city and vicinity last week looking over the gas and oil fields with local parties. They may return here in the near future to continue the work of prospecting, looking toward the development of these fields.

Jordan--Rush.

Webster, Ky., Oct. 17. (Special.)--Lee Jordan and Miss Lena Rush of Clifton Mills, were quietly married last Wednesday evening. Mr. Jordan is a son of Tim Jordan, deceased, and Miss Rush is a daughter of Len Rush, deceased.

Expecting Good Fall Trade.

CAPSHIP TO CROWN TRIUMPH

Of Tobacco Growers Will be Coming National Convention.

(Tip-Toe Date Farming.)

In April, 1904, Mr. Everett and Mr. Sherman began the campaign of education and organization in the tobacco district of Kentucky. Since then the organizers from headquarters have campaigned in Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina and the tobacco growers are better organized than any other class of farmers.

The result has been that the price of tobacco has been raised from an unprofitable basis to one of dignity and profit. One National Convention has been held and now the second one approaches. Tobacco growers have shown their power and tasted the sweets of independence. Nothing can turn them back from the determination to completely rule their business. The coming convention, we expect, will be the capship to crown their complete triumph in controlled production, controlled marketing and price making. Come to the convention. Every tobacco grower has made enough extra from his crops to justify attendance, but what he has made measures against against dollars when compared to what is in store for each in the future.

Delegates from more than twenty counties had been appointed before September 1, and the most active interest displayed everywhere in the tobacco sections fortells a great meeting and assured success. The leaders and best informed planters are only with plans for the future control of the tobacco crop, the best of which will be selected by delegates and put into effect directly after the convention.

Nothing to Fear.

Mothers need have no hesitancy in continuing to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their little ones, as it contains absolutely nothing injurious. This remedy is not only perfectly safe to give small children, but is a medicine of great worth and merit. It has a world wide reputation for its cures of coughs, colds and croup, and can always be relied upon. For sale by Short & Haynes.

Death's Euphemisms.

I cannot tell when the custom arose, but I know that in the English press, to announce a suicide in the list of deaths by euphemism. "In this city, at last, a B. suddenly." It was a common thing on seeing such a notice any one would understand at once that the deceased had taken his own life. These were the days when newspapers understood and respected a certain degree of reserve in regard to personal feeling, whether of joy or sorrow. In this time had some.

Another euphemism in regard to death is the phrase, "if anything should happen." Persons speak of making their will or making any other arrangement concerning their possessions. "In case anything should happen to them." The phrase is almost invariably used where death is expected, certain things are to be done or certain persons called, "if anything should happen," meaning that one thing is sure to happen, and the other is a possibility.

The Suffering Cripple.

A very pompous, self-sufficient and very bad fellow was once playing golf on a golf course. He had as his caddy a hatted old Irish peasant, with a very knowing twinkle in the corner of his eye. After one stroke the caddy struck was crouched hard on the green turf of a hole. The vainglorious one said to his caddy in the most boastful fashion, "Replace the caddy, caddy!" Quietly and patiently the caddy went through the performance, thinking calmly and saying nothing at all until the eighteenth was reached. Then, as the last stroke was made, the caddy went to the putting green and "Replace the caddy, caddy!" rang in his ears for the first time, he turned to his caddy in a noble scorn upon his angust employer and said: "Arrah, is it replacing the turf you'll be bidding me to do? By the holy Rye, I'll be returning the place we'll be all doing when you're gone!" London King.

Became Accidents.

When wax is needed a certain number of self-elected citizens go with honey and hang up in chains or curtains, each one clutching by her front feet to the hind feet of the one above her, like Japanese acrobats, and there they remain, sometimes for two days, until the wax scales appear pushed out from every joint. It is not hard to understand that, since much honey is needed for the manufacture of wax, a bee after filling with the raw material would produce much more wax by keeping quiet than by using any of the zinged honey for energy in moving about and working. But the necessity of "holding hands" while this work goes on must ever remain to us another occult evidence of the close relations in the bee commune—Country Life In America.

Whistler and the Amateur.

When James MacNeill Whistler went to Venice to make those fourteen famous etchings of his he became so infatuated with its beauty that he made seventy pastels first, leaving his etchings till the last few days. These pastels made a tremendous sensation. All the art world of Venice was carried away with enthusiasm, excepting a Russian painter, who declared them tricks, betting a basket of champagne he could paint six not to be distinguished from them. Mr. Whistler amiably gave some of his paper and six pastels, which were finally mixed up with those by the Russian and submitted to a jury who had seen none of them. Mr. Whistler's pastels were unmistakable, and the Russian lost the wine. A few days later the two met on the Rialto, and Mr. Whistler laughed a little about the wine and the bet. The Russian was furious. "You forget, sir," he said, "that I'm a Russian, and if you scratch one you find a Tartar underneath." "Oh, no, you have it wrong," said Mr. Whistler, "you have it wrong. I scratched an artist and found an amateur."

The Interpreter.

The famous Alpine climber who at the solicitation of the vicar had consented to give a short lecture in the Little Sinsborough parish room was relating one of his most thrilling experiences, according to the Dundee Advertiser. "Suddenly," he said, "I felt my feet slip from under me, and next moment I was hanging over a yawning precipice. Had the rope which held me broken I should have found a grave midst the everlasting snows." He paused, and old Mrs. Wurzleton, who was as deaf as a gatepost, seized the opportunity to put a question to her husband, who could hear fairly well on one side of his head. "Was 'er 'ee 'assayin' of John?" he queried. "So far as Ol can make out, 'Marr,' replied her good man, "'ee were darrin' 'er 'anged for pawing summit as didn't belong to 'im, an' if the rope didn't broke 'ee'd 'ave bin in 'is grave afore 'ee cut him 'is nose. The perleeve in them furin parts must be orl-strait."

Insect That Sits on Eggs.

A remarkable case of an insect sitting on its eggs is recorded by F. P. Dodd in the "Transactions of the Entomological Society of London." This strange departure from the normal habits of the insect race is exhibited by a species of bug. The female sits in a brooding attitude over her eggs for a period of three weeks. When the young begin to break through she retreats an inch or so from the eggs and remains there for some hours until the last egg is hatched. She then departs, leaving the young ones to take care of themselves. During the whole time of brooding and till all the young are hatched and fed, the female sits on the eggs. It is thought that this brooding habit may be a means of protection against the attacks of ichneumonid flies—London Globe.

Don't Borrow Trouble.

It is a bad habit to borrow anything, but the worst thing you can possibly borrow, is trouble. When you feel heavy, weary and worn out by the pains and poisons of dyspepsia, biliousness, Bright's disease, and similar internal disorders, don't sit down and brood over your "symptoms," but fly for relief to Electric Bitters. Here you will find sure and permanent forgetfulness of all your troubles, and your body will not be burdened by a load of bad diseases. At Short & Haynes' drug store Price 50c. Guaranteed.

Nothing Is a Trifle!

The half inch United States standard screw thread has thirteen turns per inch. Mr. Welch, the original superintendent of the Western Union Air Line works, used for the half inch bolt twelve threads instead of thirteen. This decision has proved to be a mistake, and the company would be glad to change it, but the immense number of brake equipments which are out all over the world, the constant call for repairs and extensions make it impossible.

Vinol is fast superseding old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions because, without a drop of oil or disagreeable feature, it contains all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cod's livers. By our process the oil, having no value either as a medicine or food, is separated from the medicinal elements and thrown away. Unlike old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, Vinol is deliciously palatable, agreeable to the weakest stomach, and therefore unequalled as a body builder and strength creator for old people, puny children, weak, run-down men and women, after sickness, and for all pulmonary diseases. Everything Vinol contains is named on the label.

OUR GUARANTEE—We have such faith in VINOL that if you will take it we promise if it does not benefit or cure you we will return you your money without question. We take all the risk.

A Vegetarian Danger.

In some respects vegetarians suffer more than meat eaters from rice and poisoning, seeing that beans, peas, lentils and peanuts contain twice as much of the poison as meat. The natives of India suffer greatly from rice and diseases owing to the quantity of dahl (lentils) they eat. Other natives who avoid dahl are almost entirely free.—Dr. Haig in London Mail.

Doubled Initials For Pirals.

Under the rule that the initial letter of a word is sometimes doubled to signify the plural, he would be a proper abbreviation for larvae. Probably some one, unfamiliar with the rule and thinking the abbreviation too concise, as it might be mistaken for an abbreviation for leaves, bundles, large buttons, made it bbl. for one barrel, and, still ignorant of the rule, added an s for the plural, making it bbls. for more than one. "TORICOID GLASSES" are spectacle and eye-glass lenses ground in a peculiar manner, so as to give a much larger, clearer field of vision than any other glasses and a sense of freedom and comfort to the wearer that no other glasses afford, and which can be appreciated only by those who have tried them. They are without question, the most scientifically constructed glasses that have ever been made, and when made into TORICOID (re-arranged and far-sighted glasses combined) will be worn with much comfort at single lenses. This cannot truthfully be said of any other form of bifocal glasses.

"TORICOID GLASSES" are made only by T. J. Howe & Co., Louisville, Ky., and by them and their authorized agents under a special guarantee. In every way they may be returned and the money paid for them will be refunded. If you have any trouble with your eyes, or if your glasses have been made by any other maker, write to us about "TORICOID GLASSES"—mentioning this paper.

An Arab in the Rain.

"Those who are not accustomed to rain are frightened by it," says a writer. "I once saw an Arab raised upon for the first time. He was abjectly terrified and demanded to have his passage paid from the country—Sicily—in which the dread phenomenon occurred. He had been conveyed from the Sahara, I think, by a European, whose servant he was, and he evidently thought his master was permitting him to get wet. By the first steamer he returned to his native desert, abandoning excellent wages, and shaking the raindrops furiously from his slippered feet."

The Hope of Rascati.

Our newspapers might be much better. They could easily be made more to the taste of the people of taste. But their unlovely crying of crime, disagreeable as it is, is an exceedingly important public duty, and in their faithfulness and veracious fortitude in keeping it up lies really the biggest part of their hope of a higher standard of honesty in public and private life. There is hope for any kind of rascality as long as it can be kept out of the papers.—Harper's Weekly.

Seaweed Sausages.

The Japanese have many curious recipes for cooking a higher standard of food. It is almost a staple article of diet in China, Japan and the Asiatic archipelago. A number of species of seaweed are eaten. Some are soaked, others are dried. Many of the Japanese and Chinese sausages are made from seaweed. Under the name of "sakusaki-mori," one variety is put up in neat tin boxes and largely sold in the Tokyo markets.

Sober England.

In nothing have the habits of English gentlemen more changed than in the use of wine. They were when each plate and table was enlivened, almost surrounded, by an escort of wine-glasses, ranging from sherry to champagne and tapering thence to port, claret, burgundy, the red alternating with the white—and he was no good man and true who did not go through the list and survive it. Today at the great houses you may have what you want, but rarely more than three glasses are visible, for white wine, for red wine and for champagne. As a result, the English gentleman who made it a merit to get drunk on port and to sober up on claret has disappeared.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

INTELLIGENT WOMEN PREPARE

Dangers and Pain of This Critical Period Avoided by the Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that the most critical period in a woman's existence is the change of life, and that the anxiety felt by women as this time draws near is not without reason?

If her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy or congestion of any organ, it is at this time likely to become active, and with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden.

At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to begin their destructive work. Such warning symptoms as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, dizziness, headache, dread of impending evil, sounds in the ears, timidity, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregular constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the woman's greatest remedy for women at this trying period, and may be relied upon to overcome all distressing symptoms and carry them safely through to a healthy and happy old age.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism, and builds up the weakened nervous system as no other medicine can.

Mrs. E. G. Hyland, of Chester-town, Md., in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham, says:—

"I had been suffering with falling of the womb for some time, and was very nervous. I had a good deal of soreness, dizziness, headache, and was very nervous. I wrote you for advice and commenced treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you directed, and I am happy to say that all those distressing symptoms left me, and I have passed safely through the change of life a well woman."

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. It is free and always helpful.

ORGANIZING WILD WEST SHOW.

R. A. Smith, of Stephensport, and
E. G. Burt in Venture.

(Hancock Clarion.)
Another great wild west show is being organized to make a tour of the country next year, and several well-known Hawesville men are in the enterprise both with their money and brains.

Mr. E. G. Burt, of Louisville, is well-known in this city, as the head of the organization and associated with him are his brothers, one of whom resides in Louisville and the others in Montana, also R. A. Smith, of Stephensport, and Judge John S. Adair, of Hawesville. Negotiations are now pending to associate another well-known Hawesville man as press agent of the show, this latter position being one of the most responsible.

The main feature of this attraction will be the exact reproduction of the celebrated Custer massacre which is similar to nearly the entire world. Mr. Burt is an intimate acquaintance to the sole survivor of this massacre on the side of the white men and he is an Indian who was one of Custer's scouts, and the man who got upon his knees and begged the General not to go into the fight.

If all the plans do not fail it is safe to say that this attraction will be organized on a very large scale. Mr. Burt has lived long in the rugged West and knows the men who can best entertain the people. There will be hundreds of unbroken ponies, armies of both blanket and civilized Indians and other features that will be new to the show-loving world. As an instance of the magnitude of the affair it is stated that the blank cartridges each month will cost nearly two thousand dollars.

The present intention of the management is to organize the show at Alliance, Nebraska, and start from there during next May. There are about thirty stands between there and Hawesville, although Owensboro and Tell City may get the attraction first.

Mr. Burt is well-known in Breckenridge county. He has sold many western ponies in Breckenridge and Hancock counties.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or untimely heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping blood through clogged and weak kidneys.

It is used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild over-working effect of Dr. Kline's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, 221 East Broadway, New York, N. Y. Write for it if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kline & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

BOTH FINES AND SENTENCES

Given Shiners and Bootleggers—Some Known in This Section.

Moonshiners and bootleggers, some of whom have operated in this county and others whose names are familiar, were given fines and sentences in the Federal Court, at Louisville, last week, as follows:

For retailing liquor without a license, the following were given a fine of $100 and thirty days in jail: J. T. Smallwood, Jim Aubrey, Will Cundiff and Ben Cundiff. Each of these pleaded guilty. The Cundiffs were also indicted on the charge of moonshining. Will Cundiff was found guilty by a jury of the charge of retailing without a license, but was acquitted of the charge of "moonshining." Ben Cundiff, who pleaded guilty to "moonshining," was given eight months' confinement and a fine of $500.

William Slaughter and Lon Nichols, charged with "moonshining," who had entered a plea of not guilty and gone to trial on the day before, withdrew their plea and entered one of guilty. Slaughter was sentenced to one year and one day in the penitentiary and to pay a fine of $500. Nichols was sentenced to six months in jail and a fine of $500.

Unusual Fire Friday.

A fire of an unusual nature occurred at the home of Rev. Ballou, the colored Baptist preacher here, Friday morning about 3 o'clock. The family awakened and discovered that almost an entire wall of the living room was on fire. Rev. Ballou began getting out the furniture from the house and and some of it removed when the fire went out of its own accord.

Medicine and Ceremonial.

The physicians of medieval England, who were for the most part monks, friars or Jews, possessed a large assortment of remedies, some of them borrowed from the Byzantine physicians, others from the traditional practice of the people. Christian physicians, however, called religion to their aid. None of their remedies was administered without ceremonial. While the medicine was being compounded the patient would say twelve times "Misereere mei, Deus," then several paternosters, "then drink the dose and wrap thyself up warm," or he would sing the psalm, "Salvum Me Fac, Deus," then drink the draft out of a church bell, the priest finishing the cure with prayer.

Dr. Creighton remarks that, as the maladies of the middle ages contained unusual elements of hysteria, the ceremonial may not have come amiss as an aid to the treatment. Physicians gained considerable fees by their practice, which the people appear to have grudgingly then. The satirical writers constantly accuse them of greed, but these charges were probably owing to the prevalence of the idea, not yet extinct, that as "medicine is from the Lord God," the leech was not entitled to a money payment.—London Spectator.

Consumptives Made Comfortable.

Incipient consumption is cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, but we do not hold out false hopes to consumptives by claiming that it will cure this dread disease in the advanced stages; but if the lungs are not too far gone Foley's Honey and Tar will effect a cure, as it stops the racking cough and soothes the inflamed air passages giving them a chance to heal, and even in the advanced stages it always gives comfort and relief. A. A. Herpin, of Finch, Ark., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stage." Sold by A. R. Fisher.

All druggists sell it. Price 50c. Mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

Bumper Corn Crops in State.

Frankfort, Oct. 12.—Commissioner of Agriculture Vreeland today issued the following report, in part:

We feel that an apology is due the public for the lateness of our October report.

The month of September was generally favorable for raising tobacco, and preparing land for wheat seeding. The corn crop promises to be a bumper crop. Prospect is 5 per cent. larger than last year. The prospect is good for an average acreage of wheat being sown. There seems to be a falling off in the acreage of both winter oats and rye. The estimate for barley tobacco is 4 per cent. greater than last year, while the estimate on the dark crop is 10 per cent. less. The crop of both was practically all in the house and afloat.

Manager Fort, of the ice factory, says that if the city authorities for any are lights, for lighting the streets, it will probably take at least sixteen at the start, as it agreed to do, he says, when a similar proposition was submitted once before.

It is now the intention of the company to increase the capital stock and issue bonds for the purpose of beginning work on a water works system next summer.

ADDITION BEING CONTEMPLATED

By Water, Light & Ice Company Here For Electric Lights.

The Cloverport Water, Light & Ice company is contemplating the erection of an addition to their ice factory, to provide room for the installation of an electric light plant. If subscribers to 1,000 incandescent lights and fifteen or twenty five arc lights can be secured, the addition will be built and a plant completed by February 1.

Forty cents a month will be charged for the first two incandescent lights installed in residences or business houses, thirty-five for the second two, thirty for the third two and twenty-five for each additional light. The meter rates will be fifteen cents per 1,000 kilowatts. The incandescent will be sixteen candle power and the arc lights, 1,000 candle power. Sixty dollars a year will be charged for each safe from frost October 1.

Meadows are nearly up to the standard. Clover in a large part of the State is reported good, but in some localities it is seriously damaged by some disease—for the want of a better name it is called clover blight. Pastures have held up remarkably well. There is a considerable falling off in the number of cattle and hogs being fed for the fall markets. There will be an abundance of winter feed for all kinds of stock unless the winter is unusually severe and long.

Big Convention Begins Today.

The second annual tobacco growers' convention, regarding which mention is made in an article from Up-To-Date, Farming on page 2, begins today at Owensboro, and will continue three days.

Stop Smoking to Enjoy Life Better.

An excellent plan for smokers is to abstain from time to time—that is, fast from all tobacco, say, for weeks or a month at a time. This method enabled the smoker to enjoy his smoker more when he goes back to it and is less harmful to his health.

"It is a fine scheme," said one man, "when I stop for a month I am equipped with the keenest relish and liking for a good cigar at the end of that month. I am rested, refreshed, recuperated in pocket too. Thus I show that I am master of my habit, and not mastered by it. I have been doing this way for a long time now and I honestly recommend my plan to all smokers. I do not limit myself to any number of cigars while in one of my smoking months, but simply smoke at will, and then abstain until another month is through.—Baltimore American.

MERITED PROMOTION.

The News has just received official notification of the promotion of Col. J. H. Gallagher, of the Henderson Route, from chief clerk in charge of advertising, to the position of traveling passenger agent of this road. Mr. Gallagher succeeds Mr. Geo. L. Garrett, who has resigned to enter other business.

Nothing would give the News more pleasure than to say something good about this young man at this time. His promotion, to the personal knowledge of the News, is due to his merits. Mr. Gallagher displayed marked ability and tact in filling his former position. This important department of the Henderson Route never made such rapid strides as it did when this young, industrious man had charge of it. He has gotten so close in touch with the press of the State that the road and the press have never had more pleasant relations; and the people know more about "the best line to St. Louis" today than ever before. These facts speak for Mr. Gallagher's work.

We can say to the patrons of the Henderson Route that if Mr. Gallagher fills his new place as well as he did his old, there will be no complaints about the services of the traveling passenger agent of the Henderson Route. The News extends to Mr. Gallagher its congratulations and best wishes for the future.

BANNER POSTAL YEAR.

The forthcoming report of the Postmaster-General will show that the department had during the last fiscal year a greater revenue than at any time in its history. Outside of the free rural delivery service the Postoffice is on a self-supporting basis. Six hundred million more postage stamps, stamped wrappers and postal cards were used than in the preceding year, an increase in receipts of approximately $10,000,000. The number of stamps and mailing devices issued during the last fiscal year foot up the marvelous total of more than 7,700,000,000. Advance figures from the larger postoffices indicate that the business in money orders will aggregate close to $1,000,000,000, a gain of nearly 20 per cent. With few exceptions these transfers of money are for small amounts, averaging on domestic orders less than $10 and on foreign orders about $20. The great bulk of the postal income is derived from the sale of stamps, postal cards and envelopes and wrappers with stamps attached. In the fiscal year, ended June 30, last, 7,704,982,165 stamps, wrappers, envelopes, postcards, etc., valued at $141,486,483 were sold by the Government.—Printers Ink.

The article appearing in another column about selecting seed corn ought to be worth many dollars to the farmers of Breckenridge county. Get out of the old ruts and get into the new ways and up-to-date methods.

If some farmers would study their cornfields and give the same attention to them that they do to politics, they would have better corn, fewer bunnies, fewer missing hills and more bushels to the acre than they have.

The corn crop in the United States this year is estimated at 2,521,987,000 bushels, the largest in its history. A well-known writer says it is doubtful if the United States ever enjoyed as favorable a crop result as this year. Wheat, corn, oats, cotton, hay, potatoes, dairy results—all good on the whole, and well distributed over the states. We never saw a better crop in Breckenridge county than is being gathered this year.

Mr. J. F. McCoy has four tracts of land which he is advertising for sale, and gives a pretty fair idea of what they are in our want column. These tracts are small, running from 125 to 181 acres; just the size for the small farmer or the young man who wants to enter farm life for his vocation. These are splendid lands, too, capable of producing any kind of a crop by the man who knows how and is not afraid of work. These lands are well adapted to the raising of alfalfa, being fresh and sweet and well drained. They can be bought at a fair price. No use for a young man going West when he has such opportunities right here at home.

EVERY farmer in Breckenridge county should read and study the article printed in another column on directions for selecting seed corn. What the farmers want to do in this county is to bring up the average of their corn production. It costs no more to till a good hill of corn than it does a missing hill or a hill with one stalk. So the remedy for this last production is in the seed. Mr. Holden tells you how to overcome this. Our advice is for every farmer to try this new way of selecting their seed. Give it a fair test and see if it does not pay to do it. They are doing it in other sections of the State with good results. If it can be done in one section it can be done in another.

THIS fall we have been in correspondence with our subscribers in regard to the payment of past and advanced subscriptions and, although it has been purely a business one on our part, we feel that we know many of our subscribers better, for a number of their replies have been personal, expressing their thoughts of the News and their good wishes for its growth and prosperity. We wish it were possible not to ask anybody to pay a bill that was not convenient to pay. Unfortunately business cannot be conducted that way. The cash necessities of so large a plant as ours requires the closest possible attention to the collection of subscriptions and other bills as they become due, so we are compelled to urge the News' subscribers to meet their payments even when not convenient. We hope none of them will take any of our subscription letters as a personal matter, but simply realize that it is a plain business proposition which we all are up against.

Portland Exposition Closes.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 15.—When the gates of the Lewis and Clark Exposition closed at 1 o'clock this morning a total attendance of 50,960 for the day had been registered, making the grand total for the entire fair period 2,545,369. The attendance for the last day ranks third in point of number, Portland Day and the Fourth of July being the only greater days.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Saturday Evening, Oct. 14.—The tobacco market of the week has ruled rather firm, and has encouraged the movement of the new crop to market. Receipts at this time of 1905 tobacco are larger than might reasonably be expected, and they indicate an early and a heavy movement of the new crop, with favorable weather for handling. By the middle of November, provided conditions are encouraging, the new crop should be moving to the market in large volume, and the farmers will have more Christmas money this year than for several years past if the season proves good. The new Burley offered brought on an average of $7.60 per hundred, the offerings being of fair quality, and the condition better than usual, considering the season. The eighty-three hogheads of new Burley sold thus far this season have brought an average price of $8.64, which compares with an average of $8.29 for the twelve hogheads of new crop tobacco offered up to this time in 1905.

Offerings of export styles of dark tobacco were small and of poor condition. Prices of leaf were firm and trashes and lugs were a few bids higher. The market for low grades of Green Rivers was stronger, but leaf was unchanged. Offerings were light. The market was firm on grades of unfringed underscript manufacturing types. The new dark offered brought an average of $5.27. I was of poor quality and in bad condition. The average on the thirteen hogheads of new crop sold to this date is $5.12. No new dark had been offered at this time last year.

Too Much "Booze" in Extracts.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Replying to an inquiry regarding the construction to be placed on a recent ruling of his office on alcoholic compounds may be sold as medicines, Commissioner Yerkes, of the Internal Revenue Bureau, holds as follows:

"The ruling does not apply to toilet articles, whatever the quantity of alcohol contained therein may be, nor does it apply to the various essences or extracts to which you refer, namely, of lemon, vanilla, cinnamon, etc., if these preparations are such as are known to the legitimate grocery or drug trade as household articles for ordinary and other uses, and not as beverages."

"Where, however, alcoholic compounds called 'essences of lemon, vanilla, cinnamon, etc., or so-called tinctures or essence of ginger' contain, as you state, a mere trifle of medicament, the main constituent being alcohol, and these preparations, which you further say are usually sold by country merchants, especially in prohibition districts, are found by the local Internal Revenue officers or agents to be generally sold or used as beverages, every merchant thus selling them without holding the requisite special tax stamp as a liquor dealer under the Internal Revenue laws, will be liable to criminal prosecution."

Walter Estes is Rewarded.

For Bravery at Ft. Thomas.

Under the head of "Prisoners Released for Bravery," the following appeared in last Thursday's Cincinnati Inquirer:

"Fort Thomas, Ky., Oct. 11.—The officers of the fort decided that the flag staff needed a coat of paint and they wouldn't order any of the prisoners to do the work as the staff is 100 feet high and very dangerous. So two prisoners volunteered to paint it and now they have received their reward. Orders were received at post headquarters this morning from headquarters of the Departments of the Lakes, Chicago, Ill., returning two months of their sentences. The names of the prisoners are Bert C. Anderson, of the 120th A. I. Co. C. and Fred Forsyth, of Co. C. 8th Inf. The prisoners are now serving sentences for desertion at this fort."

Anderson's real name is Walter Estes, who is a Cloverport boy and who was arrested here several months ago and sent by Marshal Delavan and taken to Ft. Thomas.

Flagman Badly Wounded.

Nine stitches were required to sew up a gash in the forehead of Flagman Coots Field, on Henderson Route passenger train No. 43, which was made by an iron bolt thrown by an unknown man at Pate's station Sunday night. The man was caught riding "blind-baggage" at Powers. The train crew had trouble getting him off the train. When he did jump from the train and hurried the piece of iron at Field, striking him squarely in the forehead.

BONE FOOD

Soft and crooked bones mean bad feeding. Call the disease rickets if you want to. The growing child must eat the right food for growth. Bones must have bone food, blood must have blood food and so on through the list.
Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment for soft bones in children. Little does every day give the stiffness and shape that healthy bones should have.
Bow legs become straighter, loose joints grow stronger and firmness comes to the soft heads.

Wrong food caused the trouble. Right food will cure it. In thousands of cases Scott's Emulsion has proven to be the right food for soft bones in childhood.

SHORT & HAYNES.

Offer to Refund Money if Hymel Does Not Cure Catarrh.

To the Editor of the Breckenridge News:

We have been asked recently if the advertisements printed in your columns regarding Hymel were true, where we offer to refund the money if this treatment does not cure catarrh. We wish you would please print this letter in as conspicuous a place as possible in your paper, saying that we are not anxious to refund the money to any purchaser of a Hymel outfit if it does not cure catarrh.

This outfit consists of an inhaler of a convenient size to be carried in the vest pocket so that the user can breathe Hymel four or five times daily. With this is included medicine dropper and bottle of Hymel. The outfit sells for $1.00 and is a most economical treatment for the inhaler. Last a lifetime and there is enough Hymel for several weeks' use, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

We trust this letter will settle any doubts that may have arisen as to our willingness to refund the money for a Hymel outfit, in case the purchaser is not perfectly satisfied.

We wish to say emphatically that our guarantee on Hymel holds good, and we will refund the money to any dissatisfied purchaser who simply states that he has used the treatment according to directions and not been helped.

Respectfully yours,
Short & Haynes.

Monacan Slave Markets.

The sale of slaves in Monaca is a very remarkable ceremony. In the market place the auctioneers advance in line to the center of the market and offer up a prayer. They appeal for divine favor on behalf of buyers and sellers and authentication Satan and all his works. The buyers interpose "amen" at the proper moments. When the last word of prayer has been said the slaves are brought forward, paraded out among the auctioneers and led around the circle of buyers, who raise the prices of the men, women and children they desire to purchase.

Rossini's Criticism.

Very cruel, says an author, was Rossini's critical criticism of a score sent him by a young musician. Rossini was fond of macaroni. The musician, knowing this, sent him along with his score a packet of macaroni of unusual excellence. In a humble letter note he asked the composer to point out the merits of his work if he found any there. Rossini's reply ran like this: "Thanks for your score and for the macaroni. The latter was excellent."

The Original.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Hymel and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Hymel and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Hymel and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as an inferior preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is highly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Sold by A. R. Fisher.

George's Wives.

Cleora had a show named Terentia, who made him do as she pleased. He was under great obligations to Cleora, but when the diva's demand of Caesar against Pompeii came up for trial Terentia compelled Cleora to appear against Cleora. Cleora, tired of Terentia, Cleora got a divorce and married a rich girl named Fulvia, left her and lived alone until his death.

Wounds, Bruises and Burns.

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, lacerations and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your house and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by Short & Haynes.

Some Reasons Why Secret

Ballot is Not Preferable

(Kentucky Register.)

Although the time is near at hand for the people of Kentucky to determine whether they are to continue the secret ballot system, or return to the old custom of " viva voce " voting, little has been said upon that subject by the press of the state. The last legislature submitted to the vote of the people an amendment to the constitution allowing a revival of the old fashioned method of voting, which measure will be balloted upon at the regular election in November. No little discussion has been indulged in regarding this important event, that it is not generally known, and we desire to take this opportunity of calling it to the attention of our readers.

There is no doubt now since the Australian system has been given a fair trial that the other is preferable and best. In the first place it will break up a lying and hypocritical custom people have of promising to vote for a person when they have no more idea of really doing so than the man in the moon.

Secondly by breaking up the habit alluded to in the paragraph above, it will save many a candidate a mint of money, as he will know then before he gives into a race what chance he has, and the coin he spends will then do him some good, when its results nowadays are very doubtful.

Then, plainly speaking, it will help to transform a lot of sealwags into men of honor, for when they promise to vote for a man there is no way of getting around it, as he will know exactly how you vote.

All honest candidates and honest people in general ought to get out and use their influence in its behalf. It would help powerfully to purify politics.

The Original Laxative Syrup is Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. It expels all cold from the system by acting as a cathartic on the bowels. It relieves the feverish conditions of the throat, draws out the inflammation, cures the cough and strengthens the mucous membranes of the lungs and bronchial tubes. An Awful Cough Cure.

"Two years ago our little girl had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with an awful cough. She had spells of coughing, just like one with the whooping cough and some thought she would not get well at all. We got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which acted like a charm. She stopped coughing and got stout and fat," writes Mrs. Ora Husard, Brinkley, Ill. This remedy is for sale by Short & Haynes.

The Catamaran.

The catamaran, made of a hollowed log, shares the popularity of the Mas-sachusetts boat with the fishermen of Massachusetts. The rickety old catamaran can weather any storm in the skillful native hands, and letters are sent by this means to ships in the offing when other communication with the shore is impossible. The catamaran requires steering with a paddle through the raging surf, and, though the boatman may be frequently drenched by the right shift by the violence of the waves, he leaps into his frail bark again with the efficiency of long practice, and the catamaran, thus, is the most efficient of great billows which threaten instant destruction, accomplishes the perilous voyage in safety.

MATTINGLY BAPTIST CHURCH

To be Organized This Week--Money Recently Subscribed to Build.

Rev. Geo. Jones, of Polville, will organize a Baptist church at Mattingly, next Saturday afternoon. The membership will be about twenty at the start. About ten Baptists, residents of Mattingly, will withdraw their letters from the Presbyterian church and come to other churches, to become members of the new church. Nearly enough money has already been subscribed to build a church at Mattingly.

Rev. Jones conducted a successful protracted meeting in a store house at Mattingly several weeks ago.

An offer mentioned.

Persons who are envious of those whom they are pleased to call the fortunate ones, are not the few of success. Apropos of this, an amusing story is told of General Lefevre, duke of Danzig. One day the general had a visit from a friend of his youth, who commented, not without feelings of envy, on the dignities and riches which the duke, who was born in a peasant's cottage, had acquired in many battles and by his faithful services. "Oh, I am prepared," was the rejoinder, "to hand them over to you at the very first I paid for them. I will proceed together into my garden. There you shall walk up and down for the space of half an hour while I command a company of infantry to fire on you. There were more in my case, but you shall have the benefit of altered circumstances. If you are not shot in thirty minutes all that is mine shall be yours."

The "Tale of a Tub."

One of the most ancient of all sea "yarns" is one that ships landers escape from the fearsome monster of the deep by throwing them a tub to divert their attention, in much the same way that a landman might sacrifice a garment in order to escape a bull. In Munster's "Cosmography," published in 1544, there is a picture of a vessel escaping from a whale by this stratagem, while the earlier editions of Swift's "Tale of a Tub" have a similar one. These stories were usually told in such an incident way that people became skeptical of their truth, and when a pleader named Tub put a case before Sir Thomas More in outrageously rambling language, the chancellor jeeringly remarked, "There is a tale of a tub." Thereafter the expression became part of the slang of the period until much later it was raised to the higher rank by becoming the title of Swift's famous work.

Styles in Africa.

The women have a hole in their top lip and gradually increase this until it is able to enclose a disk of wood two and even three inches in diameter. A Malinke woman came to call on us whose disk measured two and five-eighths inches across. The size of the wood inserted proclaims the rank of the person. Peasants are content with a few pieces of stick of the same dimensions as a match.

The weight of the wood causes the lip to fall down over the mouth. Frequently the lip breaks and the disk is put upon it in which case the disconnected ends are carried back and tied to the ear. "On the Boplers of Pygmy Land."

FUND TO ERECT A MONUMENT

To Capt. J. P. Cummings to be Raised by Members of His Command.

The members of company A of the Green River Battalion have set on foot a movement to raise a fund to pay for a monument to be erected over the grave of J. P. Cummings, captain of said company A and also of company L of the Third Kentucky Cavalry. Captain Cummings was killed in action in April, 1863, two miles south of Big Spring, on the Singleton Clay farm and was buried in what is known as the Burdett graveyard, about three and one half miles southeast of Cloverport and three-fourths of a mile south of the Hardinsburg and Cloverport pike. His grave is unmarked and will remain so unless this fund is raised by the soldier boys who fought under him.

A small subscription is solicited from the public to help to raise the required amount.

The following has been appointed a committee to solicit and receive contributions: Charles Sipes, Garfield; S. E. Waggoner, Cloverport; Judge Wm. Aml, Dr. A. M. Kincheloe, M. L. Kincheloe, Hardinsburg.

Dr. A. M. Kincheloe is treasurer and contributions can be paid to any member of the committee or to the treasurer.

Cloverport Negress Does Piece of Funny Work at Hawserville.

(Hancock Clarion.)
Halle Warfield, a dusky female whose home is in Cloverport, but who for some time has been making her home with the family of Sheriff Cunningham, of Campbellton, did a piece of funny work in this city Sunday afternoon and was picked up very soon thereafter by Marshal Mason. In company with Minerva Bates she went to the Tribune home and stole a pair of shoes belonging to Mrs. E. W. Sprague. She was not detected in the act and got across the river, but returned here Sunday. When arrested she denied the act and half-way convinced the owner of the property that she was innocent. The officer told her, however, that he would imprison her if she did not return the shoes. Becoming alarmed she asked the officer to go across the river with her and he would find the goods; this he did and along about 11 o'clock on Sunday night the woman took the officer through alleys and back lots and showed him the stolen shoes hidden in the weeds in one of the corners. The officer returned the shoes to the owner about midnight, and the negro was told to stay out of Hawserville.

Presidential Election will make no change. No matter which candidate is elected, Foley's Honey and Tar will remain the people's favorite remedy for coughs, colds and incipient consumption. It cures colds quickly and prevents pneumonia. A. J. Nesbitt, Hawserville, Ind., writes: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me." Sold by A. R. Fisher.

Railway Wheels.

Did you ever notice that the wheels of a locomotive engine are beveled? The reason for this is that in rounding a curve the outer rail is, of course, a longer distance than the inner one. The difference is very little, but it would be enough to make an engine "skid" unless it were reckoned for. In the beveling of the wheels, the part with the greater circumference, is forced against the outer rail by the very tendency of the engine to drive straight ahead, and with the other wheels the smaller circumference rests on the rail, thus overcoming the difference in the lengths of the lines.

Alcohol as Medicine.

"Alcohol has a certain position as a medicine," said Sir Frederick Treves recently, "but in the last twenty-five years its use by the medical profession has steadily diminished. It is often said that alcohol is an excellent stimulant, but the appetite does not need artificial stimulation. If the body wants feeding, it demands food."

REAL HEART OF THINGS.

Its Found Not in the Great Cities; But in Country Homes.

"In time the great cities may become dominant, but it will be many years hence, and I would be sorry should I live to see the day," said James J. Hill, President of the Great Northern railroad. "The national welfare depends upon the prosperity of the farm lands, the mining districts, the lumber camps—in the growth of big cities. The agricultural interests in particular represent the greatest strength of the country, and will for many years to come."

Yet men stand appalled at the spectacle of a metropolis. Let us take New York, as our most striking example—where the visitor gazes at the crowded markets, the endless throngs, the hurrying throngs, the skyscrapers, the roaring factories, the bustle of commerce, all the urban ruck and riot, and heedless of what lies behind, the hidden motor power, cries: "Here is the heart of things; here is the pulse of the nation; here is the life blood of the nation centers, here is blood which flows through the veins of commerce, gives vigor to all the land." New York, the heart of the country? Rather New York the parasite—the blood sucker.

A Giant Exhibition.

At best, New York is but a monster exhibit of the products of mines, farms, cattle ranges, mills and factories, and of the rural houses where genius is born, nourished and inspired. What more speaking symbol of these things than the city's skyline. In itself that skyline of marvellous architecture, save as it excites wonder, admiration and a sense of enterprise and activity amounts to nothing. What it signifies in each new tower and spire is the comparative values of the country's material resources.

she even produce the man to handle them. A glance at biographies will tell of the careers of industry, merchant princes, men of art, professions, laborers, are country bred. From A. T. Stewart to go no further back to the Rockefellers, Clevess, Duponts, and all the rest of the present day leaders.

Even The People From The Country.

Dr. John H. Girdner, an eminent New York physician, said recently: "Build a wall around New York city show no man to enter, and in fifty years the city will depopulate itself. This city makes too many demands upon those who live and work in it. Thousands drop out each month. It is the fresh country people flocking here day by day that furnish the brains, sinews and pluck to carry the metropolis to its destiny. Its success in the past has been due to this out-of-town element and will continue to be."

"Men, men, men," is the constant cry that New York sends off over the country and the response is adequate, eager and satisfying. It is in this fact that the assurance of a more advanced life, greater advance lies. Capital flowing in from the country made Wall Street a by-work to all the world. Material drawn from the country has made the greatest manufacturing town in the United States. Men attracted from the country have made her financial mistress of the western hemisphere.

Cities Not Self-Dependent.

Not only is she dependent upon the open spaces for men, material and money, but even for trade. As compared to the amount of money spent in this city by out of town buyers, the sum expended by its own inhabitants dwindles into insignificance. In recognition of this, the Merchants Association of New York annually arranges with railroads for cheap transportation, and with hotels for rock bottom rates, and runs excursions to gather in the out-of-town buyers.

During the month of August over 400 buyers from the south and west were in New York, and during September this number largely increased. Reckoning under the average of past years each merchant spent more than $10,000, and thus through the efforts of the Merchants Association alone more than $4,000,000 is left in the city each year. But this is merely a fraction of the trade which the city receives from the rest of the country. A conservative estimate places the gross income at $125,000,000.

Each American city knows the experience that the city suffers first, last and most from any national disaster. To go no further back than the coal strike of three winters ago—New

THEATRE TRUST WAR.

THE INDOMITABLE BELASCO GIVING THE SHOW COMBINE A FIGHT FOR ITS LIFE.

Threatened With Extinction, He Has Organized an Opposition Which Has Attracted Some of the Brightest of the Theatrical Stars.

David Belasco for a number of years has been waging a war against the theatrical trust. He has been assisted in years past by Minnie Madden Fiske, the wife of Harrison Grey Fiske, owner and editor of the Dramatic Mirror, and by the Shubert Brothers broke off all business relations with Klaw and Erlanger, the trust, and the theatre trust and now a combination with a capital of $1,500,000, of Belasco, Harrison Grey Fiske, John C. Fiske, Frank L. Fiske and the Shubert Brothers has been formed, acquiring about thirty theatres, extending from Boston to St. Louis, in which they might produce theatrical productions without the dictum of the trust.

David Belasco, ever since his severance of relations with the trust has made strenuous efforts to acquire a theatre in the nation's capital, as he has thought that the cosmopolitan nature of the people assists him greatly in determining whether new productions

BLANCH BATES.

One of Belasco's stars.

Belasco will be a success or not. In September, however, an announcement was made that he, in conjunction with the Shubert Brothers, had acquired control of the Lafayette Theatre in Washington, and also had taken up a 99-year lease on the ground on which the Lincoln's exhibit lived when an attempt was made to assassinate him the same night President Lincoln was shot. In later years the house was occupied by Secretary Blaine.

Last year David Belasco found all theatres in the national capital with closely barred doors. He was arranged to produce a play, "Adrian," Mrs. Leslie Carter's latest success, and found no building in Washington suitable for the purpose. Into a theatre except Convention Hall, probably the largest auditorium south of New York, and in years previous used for an ice palace for six day-bicycle races, athletic meetings, and other institutions requiring great space. This had a hall some 120 feet in length by 125 feet in width, with a roof carried on huge semi-circular arches rising to a height of nearly fifty feet above the floor. Such a barn as this Mr. Belasco in a few days converted into a modern playhouse by the magic touch of gold, which he has found to be the most effective and defensive weapon against the combine.

Money Spent Like Water. The regulations of the District of Columbia to protect the patrons against the danger of fire, are extremely rigorous, and it was these that the trust used as a $25,000, which Belasco in his endeavor to have this last production first appear in Washington as have other plays, did not fall upon the owners of Convention Hall, but upon Mr. Belasco, who paid, in order to make this hall into a modern fire-proof theatre, an enormous aggregating near $25,000. The present theatrical combine or "trust," had first conducted a legitimate looking syndicate, charging for the service five per cent. of the profits, an enterprise advantageous alike to actor and manager. The success of this plan opened a larger vista of profit, and the weaving of all the threads in the country has led to the destruction of competition with the two formidable exceptions noted. In the other theatres the manager has become the "janitor," while the syndicate dictates prices, attractions, and other features.

Losing the Dogs of War.

But it is now war to the knife between the two forces, trust and anti-trust, thrust and anti-thrust. Whether the trust will be successful and absorb the independents, remains to be seen. Probably not, so long as it has to deal with men who know their art protects, know the method of the trust, know how to produce a play with unsurpassed taste and know that the American people will pay admission to witness an incomparable production all the more willingly because of the herculean efforts made to present it to them. Belasco, in the new combination which he has organized seems to have gotten his knife well between the ribs of his antagonists and is beginning already to twist it vigorously.

ENVIRONMENT A MOULDER OF CHARACTER.

By H. S. BIGELOW.

The other day I saw a group of boys carefully scanning a theatre poster. One of them, a small fellow, was pointing at a picture of a man in a suit, and the others were looking at it with interest. The intensity of their faces showed that the horror of the picture was not lost upon them. Near by were two younger children, playing together in the gutter. Their faces were smeared with the mud made by the dish water running over the sidewalks, and the children were amusing themselves floating clear stumps in the disgusting pool.

Reflecting upon that sad sight there came to mind other childhood scenes. There stood a man in a suit, and that nestled among the hills where sweet-beatified cattle browsed and where the branches of great trees mirrored in crystal waters. There were the beauteous and the swarming, and the spruce woods and the summer nights, too, when the leaves were still and stars were bright and the spirit of the child looked up in silent wonder.

In the race of life, in the contest of physical and mental struggle, it came to me that child had not a fair chance who has sprung out of the mud of the street.

To know the breath of ill and the rustle of autumn leaves, to be up with the lark, to wet one's feet in the dew of the morning, to go to bed with the song of the whippoorwill—these memories are like guardian angels. The children whose horizon is a brick wall, who must play on cobble stones and go swimming in the canal and be chased by the police, if they do not grow up to be ideal citizens, shall we, of holier memories, sit in judgment upon them? Shall we not remember their bonds?

Worse Than Tobacco Cigarettes.

London is reported to be in the throes of a new vice, which is not only getting society into a turmoil, but is also attracting the attention of the medical authorities. It is the tea-bag cigarette habit—one in which women are becoming the chief adepts, and which is said to be a difficulty in the weed. Once the taste for the new "weed" is acquired, it is said the sequel is the smoking of tea-bag cigarettes. Dizziness is caused by constant smoking and the victims clutch madly for imaginary support. They finally drop in an exhausted and stupefied condition, and then follow the wild state of the land said to be as varied as that caused by powerful narcotics.

MARY, MOTHER OF WASHINGTON.

Patriotic Citizens.

Handsome Monument Erected by Washingtonians.

The monument of Mary Washington, the mother of George Washington, stands on the western side of Fredericksburg, Virginia, almost under the shadow of Mary's Heights, of bloody Civil War memory. Mary Washington died of cancer, August 25, 1789. It was in April that year that Washington rode from Mount Vernon, to say farewell—thus, distinguished to his mother before starting for New York to be inaugurated first President of the United States. In a letter to his sister Betty Washington, who lived in Fredericksburg, Washington wrote, after learning of his mother's death, "When I was last in Fredericksburg I took my final leave of my mother, never expecting to see her more."

Neglected Tomb.

For a hundred years the grave of this good woman lay unprotected, on what had been part of the farm of her daughter, Betty Washington, but which became a common of the city of Fredericksburg. For half a century the grave was marked by a little stone slab, but this, disintegrated and disappeared. Various fruitless efforts were made to build a monument, and in 1820 a New York banker, Silas E. Burroughs, offered to give an elaborate monument. The cornerstone was laid with imposing ceremonies by President Andrew Jackson, but Burroughs met with financial recess and the work on the monument was suspended. In 1830 some patriotic women formed the Mary Washington Monument Association, and by subscription erected the monument after buying the land in which the bones of Washington's mother rest.

A Story on Balzac.

The French alienist, Esquirol, on being asked by a student, is there any sure test by which the sane can be distinguished from the insane? He invited his questioner to dine with him and, after a night of conversation, while the other was somewhat uncommunicative, noisy and extremely comical, and while the alienist was as good natured, he remarked: "The problem is very simple after all; the quiet, the sane, the gentleman is certainly distinguished in some line, but the other is evidently a lunatic, and, as the lunatic is not sane, he is not sane."

Smiling at his pupil, Esquirol told him that he was wrong. "The quiet, the sane, the gentleman is certainly distinguished in some line, but the other is evidently a lunatic, and, as the lunatic is not sane, he is not sane."

THE SAVING OF OREGON.

HOW DR. WHITMAN BRAVED
BLIZZARDS AND DEATH.

Determined to Save Country From British—Daniel Webster Opposed to Retaining Territory.

A bloody trophy in possession of the government at Washington is an Indian hatchet. The tomahawk rocks with red and blood association. It is the weapon with which Dr. Marcus Whitman, the Indian missionary and his wife were slain in 1847 and with which the first blow of the terrible Whitman massacre was begun—an enormous crime which nearly obliterated the white American settlers in the Oregon country, sent a thrill of horror and indignation throughout the American republic and saved to the American people the great northwest country out of which Oregon, Washington and other states were created. It is one of the very cruel chapters in history—a chapter embracing eight years of war between settlers and savages—the result of which was that the Hudson's Bay Company and the British were compelled to relinquish their claims to the territory. American result was the virtual annihilation of the Cayuse tribe of Indians. So much tragic history centers about this hatchet that it is one of the rarest relics of the government. A government official familiar with the period says: "The Whitman massacre was the result of the machinations of England to secure by treaty or otherwise all crossed the continent and in the autumn entered the valley of the Oregon.

The British agents slowly poisoned the minds of the savages against the new comers but it was not till 1847 that the savages in council determined to massacre all the American settlers in their country.

The site of Dr. Whitman's dwelling was on the north bank of the Walla Walla river at what is now the town of Waiilatpu. The Indians surrounded the houses of the mission their weapons hidden under their blankets. At dawn of November 29, 1847 an Indian entered the doctor's house and asked for medicine. As the missionary turned to his medicine chest the savage buried his tomahawk in the good man's brain. Mrs. Whitman was killed a minute later by the same savage with the same weapon. The murder of the missionary was the signal for the wholesale slaughter to begin. The butchery continued on all sides. The crash of firearms, the groans of the dying screams of women, yells of the painted demons filled the air. The Indian women and children danced and sang as the atrocious work went on. They mutilated the dead. Women and children of the settlers, snatched by bloody knife and club. The massacre lasted all day and then murdering parties started in every direction. Everybody in the Whitman mission was killed and many others were slain. The Cayuse attacked a mission among the Nez Percés Indians. The Cayuse band had taken and took the sides of PALATIAL R. R. STATION.

NEW WASHINGTON STATION THE FINEST IN THE WORLD.

Construction of Structure and Building
Yards to Cost $2,000,000.

With all the talk relative to Government control of railway rates, and the probability of Congress giving the subject at least consideration, the busy session of the Senate and House this winter will not appreciate without a radius of eight miles of the Capitol building there is work of railroad improvement now having a value of over $22,000,000.

Just across the Potomac River, between Washington and the historic but sleepy town of Alexandria, the Pennsylvania railroad is well along in constructing the largest freight yards in the United States, at a cost of $7,000,000, while the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroads are expending $15,000,000 in the city itself in eliminating grade crossings and erecting a new Union station. Station which, when completed, will be the largest passenger station in the world, even exceeding that at Hamburg, Germany.

Compares in Size with Capitol.

The new station, itself only five feet shorter than the Capitol building, will face a plaza 500 feet wide by about 1,000 feet long, decorated with colonnades, terraces and fountains. Nine streets will lead into the plaza, which will be used for the assembling of troops and spectators for public ceremonies. To give the required circulation to the station, the new two passenger tunnels from the South, it was necessary to fill in the site of the old station, and the excavated yards of earth being required to form the new plaza, the fill for a considerable area being over 35 feet in depth.

Sanitary Train Sheds.

Unlike most railroad stations, the architectural beauty of the Washington station will not be marred by the usual gigantic semi-circular train shed, but each pair of tracks will be covered by a set of umbrellas train shed, which will protect alighting and departing passengers from the elements, but will also allow the smoke and gases to rise into the atmosphere. The baggage trucks will pass to their cars through tunnels to the end of the tracks, where the trunks and parcels will be brought to the surface by elevators, so that at no time will the passengers be in danger of collision with the trains. The new station will be the largest single room in the world, nearly 700 feet long, the entire station being under one roof. The station will be constructed in such a manner that it will be technically impossible for the trains to collide. There will be 33 passenger tracks, 27 on the main floor level and six on the upper level. The station will be reached by the double tunnel under Capitol Hill. A feature of the station will be the double stairs, so that even in a large crowd, for which Washington is famous during inaugural season, no accident will be of any danger of accident to the passenger arriving or departing.

Presidential and Diplomatic Entrance.

There will be special entrances and also rooms for guests of the nation, the diplomatic corps and for the President of the United States, who will thus be enabled to quietly seek their train without hindrance.

It seems that Mr. W. W. Astor has bought the historic Dover estate in Kent, England, and is improving it. It includes 2,000 acres of land and a moated castle, nearly six hundred years old, where at one time Henry VIII. maintained Anne of Cleves. On this estate Mr. Astor has put to work about one thousand men, with due apparatus, and is making changes rather as improvements which the calculating natives estimate will cost him a million and a quarter pounds. He is building a model village, roads, bridges and gardens, and is doubtless having a good deal of the sort of fun that Mr. Kipling in a recent story has suggested as a suitable recreation for tired Americans.

abstainer, the finest vintage wines are always offered to such guests as dine at the palace.

The recent visit of the Shah of Persia to England recalls a former call of his upon Queen Victoria, when London was startled at the Oriental methods employed by this picturesque Eastern potentate. Thousands of dollars worth of damage was done in the famous Buckingham Palace by the noisome orders of the Shah. The sheep which provided his mutton were brought into the palace rooms, which had been placed at his royal disposal and slaughtered upon the magnificent and costly rugs and other such extravagant practices were the order of the day. While the meat which the Shah eats is always supposed to be slaughtered before his eyes, it was believed at the time that these performances were simply the carrying out of an Eastern royal fancy to show Western barbarians what the Orient was accustomed to.

The Queen's maids of honor have very little to do. They live at home, and when the Queen is in London they are conveyed to Buckingham Palace after luncheon in royal carriages, and remain in a suite of charming salons until required to accompany the Queen and her unmarried daughter out driving. They must dress very well and not appear in the same clothes too often, and, above all, study the wishes of Her Majesty in regard to colors and modes. The military embargo, that is, not to wear a picture hat, must be followed to the letter. With a salary of $1,000 and the attachment of "Honorable" to their names, the fair maid-of-honor manage to worry along until they marry.

ell in order that he may be saved trouble. As a disclaimer this could hardly be improved upon.

Father John of Cronstadt, whose extraordinary influence over the Czar, led to his propaganda against the revolutionaries, continually rouses the ire of the secret committee, is 86 years of age. In personality he answers to the description of the average Russian peasant, only in his case asceticism has replaced a vulgar refinement on his features.

VAN CALAWA.

COUNTING UNCLE SAM'S CASH.

Occurs Every Time a New Treasurer Is Appointed.

Owing to the recent change in the office of Treasurer of the United States, a task of no small magnitude is going on in the Treasury Building. Every time one Treasurer gives way to another the cash must be counted and verified before the new official becomes responsible for the money under his care.

As soon as a change is made the Secretary of the Treasury appoints a Committee of Three to select a force to count the cash. This committee picks out a number of clerks in the various offices of the Department, and they are set at work to count the millions of dollars that may be forty men selected to perform this huge count; maybe fifty or eighty. It is always considered an honor to be one of these counters.

The total sum counted by these men is somewhere in the neighborhood of one hundred and thirty millions in money, bonds, notes and everything else. One vault alone contains over a hundred millions in silver dollars. And there is a heavy amount of silver fractional currency, and many tons of nickel five-cent pieces and pennies.

The working cash is handled first, and in order to give it a chance to do regular duty it is counted at night.

Most of the money is counted in bulk and stored away in bags, each containing a certain sum. These are weighed, and if there is even one dollar short, there is instant detection of the wrong count. As each bag is filled by a clerk, who attaches his name by a tag, any discrepancy in the number of coins or any coin missing from the sack is quickly detected. This is done, not only to check any tendency toward dishonesty, but also to cause each counter to have a share in the work. The new Treasurer is Charles H. Treat, of New York, who takes the place of Eli H. Roberts.

The Unemployed in Germany.

It seems from consular reports that there are none. Colonies for the so-called "unemployed" take them out of this class immediately and make them useful. Each city supports large offices where hunters for work go and register. They get a bath, have their clothing disinfected and if the unions which support these institutions have no work for them in cities, they are sent to the farms in the country, where they can work at farming, land reclamation, and in other productive occupations. The system of these unions is said to be very comprehensive; they are open to all, and besides providing opportunities for work, they have systems of old age pensions, insurance against accidents, and other benefits.

DEWHITMAN STARTING EAST ON HIS PLACED TO CROSS THE ROCKIES.

PLEADING HIS CAUSE BEFORE WEBSTER AND THE PRESIDENT.

the territory west of the Rockies and north of the 42nd parallel of north latitude."

First White Women to Cross Rockies.

It was in 1836 that Dr. Marcus Whitman and the Rev. Mr. Snodgrass, with their wives—the first white women to cross the Rock Mountains went across the trail to the Pacific coast.

The country was then in the control of the Hudson's Bay Company, a British monopoly, and the Indian tribes were nearly absolute.

It had a strong British influence, and the people of the Atlantic to the Pacific. The company owned by men in London desired to exclude American immigration. The Washington government so far from having any conception of the value of the northwest corner stubbornly maintained that it was worthless and inaccessible by land.

The great Webster said that it was a land fit only for savage beasts and more savage men.

Dr. Whitman established his mission among the Cayuse in the state of Washington near what is now Walla-

Walla, then Fort Walla Walla, a trading post. In 1842 while attending a dinner given at the fort in honor of some British officers, news came that a company of British immigrants were on their way and had already crossed the Rocky Mountains. There was great excitement at the table and a young officer, unknown to the presence of the American missionary jumped for his feet exclaiming: "For Columbia the Oregon country, America is too late. We have got the country."

Dr. Whitman perceived that it was the purpose of the British to claim the country by right of settlement.

He left the table rapidly to his widow's home and after a brief pause there set out for Washington.

His parting words to his wife were:

"I am going to cross the Rocky Mountains, reach Washington this winter, God carrying me through and bring out an immigration

The Seedless Apple Fraud

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE DENOUNCES SCHEME AS HUMBUG

GUY ELLIOTT MITCHELL.

One of Uncle Sam's duties, and it is an extremely important one, is showing up, and where possible, stopping frauds and fakes and preventing the people from being misled by their savings. Through its issuance of "fraud orders" the Postoffice Department prevents millions of dollars every year from being squandered on worthless projects and fake schemes exploited through cunning advertisements. The vigilance of the Postoffice Department against lottery concerns is another instance. So much is done now through clever advertising that officials have come to be very chary about giving their endorsement to any schemes which have not been pretty thoroughly tried out.

The Spencer "Seedless" Apple. A case in point was the efforts of the Colorado seedless and coreless apple headed by Mr. Spencer, which was attempted last year to secure the either paper stock or nursery stock, in New York State. The attractive plan proposed by the parent Spencer company, as learned at the Department of Agriculture, is that these subsidiary or local seedless apple companies may be formed in the various States. The local company will pay a cash bonus to the mother company and also issue it 61 per cent of its stock—a controlling interest. The public is to be let in on the remainder, 49 per cent. To facilitate the sale of this stock Assistant Pomologist W. A. Taylor says that the company some time ago issued a statement to the effect that the retail price of trees will be held up to $5 each, while the cost to the local company will not exceed 50 cents, and it is estimated that on a local investment of $5,000, $50,000 could be quickly rounded up.

It seems, said Mr. Taylor, who in the opinion of the matter appeared to be entirely convinced of the shadyness of cern which this tremendous advertising is causing our principal competitors in the export apple trade. The Tasmanian government council has instituted an official inquiry whether this new development is likely to so revolutionize the character of the fruit which we export to Europe, and which is in competition with them, as to necessitate their securing and growing this seedless variety.

Colored Brackett states that thus far no tree or scion of this alleged remarkable apple has been placed in the hands of any disinterested experimenter, and it is significant that there are not as yet any trees or scions for sale, although it is stated that several million

It is full time that all mowing machines, harvesters, and other horse implements should be left out in the field to obtain the benefit of the fall weather. Plows and harrows will, of course, be needed yet, and these will be kept under cover for awhile, but can be left out later after the fall plowing. This practice of fall weathering of implements is quite general in many farming sections and is encouraged from year to year by a large class of farmers. It insures thorough weathering of the wood and produces in the metal parts of the machinery trees are being grown in New York, Iowa, Utah and Colorado.

It is questionable whether the Fraud Order Office of the Postoffice Department will be able to bar the use of the mails to the company owing to the skillful preparation of its literature, though such action, it is stated, would be sustained by all reputable fruit men and nurserymen.

The wonder of the whole story is that in the face of such lamentable failures where the promoters have consented to exhibit their apples the tree still goes forward of successfully fooling the people. It is not denied that there is an apple which may be called seedless and with an imperfectly developed core; but it is a fruit and worthless, and, moreover, is thousands of years old. Wherever the Spencer apple has been exhibited it has been a fizzle. One claim made by the company is because the apple is bloomless it is an opportunity for its literature, though such action, it is stated, would be sustained by all reputable fruit men and nurserymen.

Everything Was the Same. A young Oxford student one day received an unexpected visit from his pretty sister, and was very indignant that she came without a chaperon.

"How here," said the young man, "I will not have any of the fellows see you in my rooms, so if anyone knocks at the door you just get behind that screen."

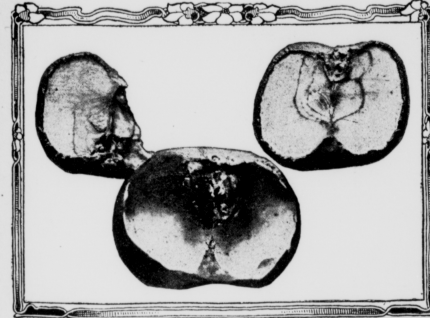

In a few minutes a knock was heard, and the girl ran behind the screen. Her brother went to open the door. An old gentleman stood on the threshold, who, after profusely apologizing for his intrusion, said: "I am just home from Australia, and many years ago I occupied these rooms; would you allow me, sir, to view them once again?" "Certainly," said the student, "come in." "Ah," exclaimed the old man, "everything is just the same. Same old table, same old fireplace, same old chair." "Then, catching sight of the girl, he cried, 'By Jove, same old dolly.' "Sir," exclaimed the student, "that is my sister." "Gad, sir," was the rejoinder, "same old story."

A Few Afterthoughts. The Chinese women are being weaned from the old custom of binding their feet, and it is stated that the practice now obtains only among the American women.

There is no authority for the statement that the railroad companies would not object if Congress spends the entire session discussing the tariff and reciprocity.

The great demand upon the Department of Agriculture for some of the Farmers' Bulletins, which are distributed free, has necessitated the reprinting of quite a list of these valuable little pamphlets. Among others of general interest which are available are:

Indorsement of the Fruit Division of the Department of Agriculture. The apple men of the Department were extremely doubtful of the claims made by Mr. Spencer that he had evolved a seedless apple which would revolutionize the apple industry of the country, and they were wise in refusing to give it indorsement. Colonel Brackett, the Pomologist of the Department, now states that the seedless and coreless apple propaganda is apparently one of the most carefully considered and intelligently worked out schemes for fooling and defrauding the public which has ever been attempted along agricultural lines. Taking advantage of the remarkable results of fruit and plant improvement made by Luther Burbank and other wizards of plant science, the statement was sprung upon an unsuspecting newspaper press and public that a wonderful seedless and coreless apple had been discovered. Hundreds of columns of newspaper descriptions of this fruit have since appeared in not only the daily and weekly Reckless Statements. The company appears to be well organized and has apparently engaged excellent legal talent. "The statements in all the literature issued by the company are very skillfully worded," said Mr. Taylor, "the statements made through the public press, for which the company cannot be held accountable, and which are influencing the people have been recklessly misleading and untrue. The surest method by which this apple was advertised in England and again readvertised in the United States shows that a master brain is engineering the promotion of the scheme. Having prepared the British public through numerous articles, for something startling, a specimen of the seedless apple was sent to King Edward, included in a plush-lined jewelry box.

The English papers commented widely upon the occurrence and several additional apples were sold at public auction for enormous prices, and the specially well written encomium on this happening and on the value of the apple was innocently transmitted by the American Consul to our Department of Commerce and through its advance consular sheets distributed to every newspaper in the United States. A feature of this incident was the ceremony connected with the cutting of two apples which brought the largest prices—namely, $15. A number of distinguished British horticulturists were present; the apples were taken from cold storage cases, and everything was proceeding beautifully until the knife was applied, then it was found that the apples were neither seedless nor coreless and the indignant purchasers, Messrs. Shearn, demanded their money back.

Must Make the Fakirs Smile. A somewhat amusing feature, as related by Colonel Brackett, is the con-papers, but in magazines and scientific journals.

Plans for Sinking Money. It now turns out that the Spencer seedless apple, so far as its being a new and valuable production is concerned, is an entire fake, and it would appear that the plan is more of a stock and bond selling proposition than a nursery stock raising one. The seedless and coreless apple is almost as old as history. Pliny, the Roman naturalist, described it two thousand years ago. Hundreds of references appear in the books of horticulturists about this freak, the whole story having been described by Professor Bailey of Cornell about fifteen years ago. The bad faith of the Spencer apple people is shown in their circulating a partial quotation from Professor Bailey written about the seedless apple years ago, and having no reference to the so-called Spencer seedless apple.

The reason now appears for the careful educational work done among the newspapers last year. The Spencer Seedless Apple Company of New York has been organized with alleged nurseries in Niagara County, has issued a magnificent catalogue with a full colored lithograph of the "Spencer seedless apple," and also showing cross sections of the apple with no semblance of core or seed.

Newspapers Which Bit. This catalogue contains numerous extracts from papers all over the country lauding the Spencer seedless apple almost to the skies. The truth is, that some of the most conservative papers were successfully roped in and unconsciously published articles specially written for them by the propagandists themselves, and these very papers are now quoted in the catalogues distributed by the company. Such eminent names appear as the New York Times, the Buffalo Inquirer, both of which had enthusiastic editorials, the American Inventor, the New York Farmer, the Scientific American, the Buffalo Commercial, the New York Herald, the National Nurseryman, the Denver Times and a score of others.

The Public to Pay the Profits. This New York apple company is but one of the subsidiary companies, with apparently the right to sell stock, mitted to the Department and to the St. Louis Exposition apple judges contained either a seedless or coreless. The apples were, moreover, small and inferior; but the newspaper account of these events tell a different tale.

Farm Bulletins. The great demand upon the Department of Agriculture for some of the Farmers' Bulletins, which are distributed free, has necessitated the reprinting of quite a list of these valuable little pamphlets. Among others of general interest which are available are:

A Trial by Telephone.

Robert Willard, a farmer living near Elkhart, in Logan county, Illinois, was being arrested by Constable Pettit on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct, pleaded guilty by telephone. When he was informed of the $14 fine by the justice in Lincoln, he agreed to send the amount by mail.

The case is unique in central Illinois jurisprudence. The constable found Willard busily engaged in a cornfield and read the warrant to him. Willard agreed that it was all right, but pointed to the work that he was doing and declared that he could not possibly lose a day or two by driving to Lincoln and waiting for trial. He suggested the use of the telephone, and when the constable somewhat dubiously acquiesced, the two repaired to the telephone. Ordinarily they got connection with Justice Rudolph, in Lincoln, and over the wire the unique trial was held. The justice received a letter later with the fine enclosed.

The Idea that the scarcity of Directions for Selecting Seed Corn.

Excerpts From Bulletin Written by Prof. P. G. Holden, Iowa's Great Corn Expert, and Issued by State Department of Agriculture.

First, test the vitality of germinating power of every ear of corn intended for planting.

Second, grade the seed corn to kernels of uniform size and shape.

Third, test and adjust the planter to secure the dropping of the proper number of kernels in each hill.

A "poor stand" of corn is responsible more than anything else for the low average of corn in the central West. The ground may be rich, the preparation good and the corn perfect the best cultivation, but if the stand is poor the yield will be correspondingly poor.

Careful counts of the number of stalks per hill were made last year in more than a thousand different corn fields, and it would be safe to say that the average stand was not over 60 per cent. of a perfect stand on an average, and in some cases it fell as low as 40 per cent. This means that the State devoted nearly 5,000,000 acres of corn and produced only 6,000,000 ears, or, to put it in another way, with perfect stand the present average yield of 33 bushels would be increased to 50 bushels per acre, or an increase to the State of 150,000,000 bushels. This does not take into consideration the increased yield made possible through the use of improved varieties, better fertilization, elimination of barren stalks by means of breeding, better methods of cultivation, etc.

Make a Germination Test.

The most common mistake is to conclude that the seed is sound and not need testing. In judging corn at most tests, it is invariably the case that some entries which present a good exterior appearance do not get a place among the good crops because of the immature and damaged condition of the germ. We have had such excellent autumn weather and but little freezing weather until after the corn was husked, but it does not necessarily follow that all is well with your seed. Our shrinkage experiments last year at the college showed that corn at the time of husking contained about 3 per cent. of moisture. This illustrates the importance of protecting our seed from even slight freezing, until this excess moisture has been evaporated. Herein lies the danger to the germ, which is susceptible to frosts even though it contains so much moisture. Even the casual observer will detect the worthless germ and will recognize the really good germ, but it is the "not very good" and "not very bad" germ that has been deceiving us. It is a temptation to "put in" an ear that pleases us and not discredit its weak features. This is the most dangerous of all. The germinating box is the only means of successfully determining the weak germ that is liable to rot if the spring be cold and backward, and if it does grow, the stalk may be barren or produce only a "nubbin".

The germinating box is a simple affair and can be made by any one in an hour's time. Take a shallow box about 2x3 feet in size, put a few inches of moist sand, dirt, bran or sawdust in the bottom; place over this a cloth which has been raised off into squares—checker-board fashion—one and one-half inches each way, numbered 1, 2, 3, and so on. Lay out the ears to be tested side by side on the floor; remove one kernel from near the butt, middle and tip of the ear; turn the ear over and remove three kernels in like manner from the opposite side, making six kernels in all, thus securing a sample from the entire ear. Place the six kernels at the end of the ear from which they were taken. Use care so that the kernels do not get mixed with the kernels from the ear next to it.

Place the kernels from ear No. 1 in square No. 1; from ear No. 2 in square No. 2, and so on with all of the ears. Then place over this a cloth considerably larger than the box with about two inches of sand, dirt, bran or sawdust, moisten well and keep in a warm place, and the kernels will germinate in four or five days. Then remove the covers carefully to avoid misplacing the kernels in the squares (a piece of thin cloth placed over the kernels before the top covering is put on will prevent the kernels from sticking to the upper cover). Examine the kernels in the first row of the germinating box, for example the kernels in squares No. 2, 6, and 9 have failed to grow, and one kernel each in squares 4 and 10 show weak germination; the corresponding ears should be rejected. The ears showing weak germination should be treated the same as the worthless ears. After examining the first row continue to the second, then the third, and so on until all of the rows of kernels have been examined and ears showing a weak condition and those which failed to germinate have been rejected.

Preparing Corn For Planter.

After the germination test the next step is preparing the corn for the planter. The ears should be examined and kernels in yellow varieties it can be done better before shelling, and in white varieties after shelling, as the milky kernels often do not show in white corn until the corn has been shelled; second, by hitting and tipping the ears of corn, to insure the planter dropping the correct number of kernels in each hill.

Each ear should be shelled separately in shallow pan or on a screen, and put the corn thus shelled into large, medium and small grades. The planter should be adjusted to drop either grade in uniform manner, if each grade is kept separate and the proper planter plate be used for each grade, but if these different sized kernels be mixed and dropped miscellaneous, the number of kernels dropped will range from one to five kernels to the hill.

Importance of Work.

We can not afford to neglect this important work. If every farmer in the State would test every ear of his seed corn this winter in the way described above the yield would be wonderfully increased. No other time will be so profitable to the farmer as that spent in testing his seed and in grading it so that the planter will drop the proper number of kernels per hill. Every one of us can do this work. It will cost us nothing but some time, of which we have plenty, at the season when the work should be done. Let me appeal to you to test every ear of corn this spring. No possible loss can come from it, and it will insure you a good stand of corn. The thing absolutely essential, if we are to secure the best returns for the year of hard work. One day spent in March on the seed corn may be worth more to us than a month of hard work in the field later. Without good seed our after-laborers are of little avail. Nothing is more depressing and discouraging than a poor stand of corn. Let us test our seed and run no risk except those made necessary to every one from the conditions of weather, over which none of us have control. It is during the bad season, when conditions are unfavorable, when we must need the kernels with large, deep germs, bright, cheerful color and well-matured, that will give us the most vigorous germination.

It is essential to seek improved varieties of corn, but it is important that we give better treatment to the seed that is now being planted. The losses from poor seed corn are something enormous. It was pointed out in the former article that the average stand of corn in the fields of the State is approximately 65 per cent. of a perfect stand. This serious condition is very largely due to frozen seed corn, that is, to seed which was not harvested in time to become thoroughly dried out before the severe frozes of November and December, which either killed the germ or so weakened it that the kernel rotted when planted, especially if the ground was cold, or, at best, gave but a weak stalk.

Examinations have been made of seed corn in nearly every section of the State and when ever it is not thoroughly dried out before the severe frozes, much of it has been seriously injured. The conditions the past season were almost an exact repetition of the previous year, when 18 per cent. of the seed in the State on an average would not grow and 19 per cent. more was greatly weakened.

There are several cautions which should be observed in the storing of seed corn. Do not put immature or freshly gathered seed corn in a warm room on the floor or in piles. It will either sprout or mould or both. The corn should be hung up and the windows left open for circulation of air.

Seed corn should not be left in barrels and boxes nor on the floor or porch in piles. It should be properly taken care of as soon as harvested. Do not store seed corn over the laundry room nor over the stable as it will get wet and moisture and be injured by freezing.

The most critical time for seed corn is during the first month after it is harvested while it is green and sappy. There is danger that it will mold or grow if the room is warm and the circulation of air is not good or the corn is put in piles. On the other hand, there is danger of its freezing unless protected. Corn dries out much more slowly than is generally supposed. The experiments of the college show that corn which shrinks 36 per cent. during the year in a small crib, had lost on January 1st, but 8 per cent. This corn was put into the crib on October 27th.

I would again emphasize the importance of selecting thirty or forty of the choicest ears, planting them on one side of our earliest planted field. Out of this seed patch the seed for next year's crop should be selected not later than October 30th, and hung up at once where it can dry out thoroughly before the severe frozes.

Delavan of this city, was the engineer,

Mr. Bryan Abroad.

William J. Bryan sailed from San Francisco September 27. Mr. Bryan will make a voyage around the world.
In the course of his journey he will visit Hawaii, China, the Philippine Islands, India, Australia, New Zealand,
Egypt, Palestine, Greece, Turkey, Italy,
Spain, Switzerland, Germany, France,
Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Russia,
Holland and British Isles.

In each of these countries Mr. Bryan will write for his paper, The Commoner, one or more letters describing his observations. It is needless to say that Mr. Bryan's letters will be interesting to men and women, regardless of political prejudice. Those desiring to avail themselves of the opportunity to read these letters should lose no time in subscribing for The Commoner.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of J. C. Ayer & Co.

DO YOU FUEL THIS WAY.
Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you are overworked? Do you have a poor appetite, sleep lay awake at night unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to force ahead? If so, the world is left out. If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different man. It will set your sluggish liver to work, and then it will give you a new vein in your body and a new blood. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. If there is any tendency in your family to consumption, it will keep that dread disease away. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great success has come from his wide experience and his kind heart. O. S. Copenhagen, Esq., of Mount Union, Pennsylvania, Co. Pa. (Box 329) writes: "I was twelve years ago I was suddenly taken with a pain in the pit of the stomach which was so violent I could not walk straight. It would grow more severe until it caused water to come out of a silver yellow water. A physician told me I had a form of dyspepsia and treated me about six months with little benefit. Another physician told me my stomach was out of order and I had indigestion. He gave me a treatment and I got some relief. I then tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and it set my stomach right. I then tried another one, who said I had chronic indigestion, alteration of the stomach, throat liver and kidney affection. He treated me for more than a year, and I felt much better, but it did not last. I then took to using several widely advertised medicines, but received no more than temporary relief. I then tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and the 'Pierce's Pills', and in two weeks I was feeling better than I had for years before." "I can't be described in a paper as a remarkable dealer in taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be 'just as good'."

CAME NEAR DYING

From an Awful Skin Humour, Scratched Till Blood Ran, Wasted to Skeleton.

CURED BY CUTICURA

One Application Soothed Him to Sleep, Cure Speedy and Permanent.

"When my little boy was three months old his head broke out with a rash, which was very itchy and ran considerable watery fluid. We tried everything we could, but he got worse all the time till it spread to his arms, legs, and then to his entire body, and he came near dying. It itched so he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to keep him from tearing his skin. He got so weak that he could not crawl, and we would think him dying. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin. Mr. C. M. Maitland, Jasper, Ont., writes, under date of Feb. 24, 1903: 'I should like to inform you that it is four years since my boy was cured of the terrible skin disease. He has been permanently cured and is healthy and strong.'"

INSTANT RELIEF

"I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on an application of Cuticura Ointment and he was soothed that I put him in the cradle. You don't know how glad I felt when he felt better. Cuticura cured him. I had to put mittens on his hands to keep him from tearing his skin. He got so weak that he could not crawl, and we would think him dying. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin. Mr. C. M. Golden Rod.
Stables in Trees.
In the Bahamas Islands there flourish a tree the tops of which attain to enormous proportions, often reaching to a height of fifteen or twenty feet above the surface of the earth, spreading all directions, underground as well, in order to obtain sustenance and give support to the trunk and branches. On the tree grow innumerable silks of silky cotton, presenting an almost fairlike appearance as they glisten in the sunlight. They are in great demand for stuffing pillows, being soft as down. The spaces formed by the roots are often quite as large as fair sized rooms, and if roomed over one would form a commodious dwelling place for a family. In fact, it would be infinitely superior to the average native hut. Holes could be cut in the roots to allow of internal communication. Up to the present, however, the natives have not utilized them as houses, though they are frequently in request as stables for horses.
A Hint For Lovers.
Being "in love" is very different from loving and may be only a selfish emotion, which is the direct opposite of loving. Being in love without loving is bondage—sometimes pleasant and sometimes painful, but always bondage, says Leslie's Monthly. True loving means freedom—freedom both for ourselves and for the one we love. To give it, for all whom we love, for we love true another human being we truly love for the sake of his or her happiness, his best use and his best happiness, and not at all for the sake of ourselves.

His Health Was Wrecked, Peru-n Gave New Life.

Assemblyman Tighe's letter should be read by every brain worker leading a strenuous life.
Hon. John Tighe, No. 98 Remsen St., Cobleskill, N. Y., Member of Assembly from the Fourth District, Albany county, N. Y., writes as follows:
"Peruna has my hearty endorsement as a restorative tonic of superior merit. At times when I have been completely broken down from excess of work, so that my faculties seemed actually at a standstill, Peruna has acted as a healing restorer, starting the machinery of mind and body afresh with new life and energy."
"I recommend it to a man tired in mind and body as a tonic superior to anything I know of and well worthy serious consideration."—J. Tighe.
Excess of work so common in our country causes such nervousness—a disease that is responsible for half of all nervous troubles.
Peruna cures this trouble because it cures catarrh wherever located.
If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
Address: Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.
